Winlevi® has been approved by the United States Food & Drug Administration (FDA) as a novel drug with a unique mechanism of action for the topical treatment of acne in patients 12 years and older. It is the first in class topical androgen receptor inhibitor that tackles the androgen hormone component of acne and is the first new mechanism of action in acne approved by the FDA in 40 years. Winlevi® was launched in the US in November 2021 by Sun Pharma and is already the most prescribed branded topical acne drug in the US based on IQVIA data. About 11,000 US physicians have prescribed Winlevi® to date. According to the prescriptions generated, Winlevi® has been one of the most successful US launches in the topical acne space in the last 15 years.

InfectoPharm is a well-established family-owned German company which operates internationally and enjoys high reputation among physicians, especially pediatricians and dermatologists. With sales of Euro 50 million, the dermatological range is an important pillar of the business. InfectoPharm is an experienced player in the field of acne. With Winlevi® InfectoPharm will complement its acne portfolio. As the first player in the European market, InfectoPharm sees a high potential of Winlevi® to become a game changer in the treatment of acne and thus provides a great benefit for patients.

Diana Harbort, President of Cosmo’s Dermatology Division, said: *“We are very pleased to further grow Winlevi® franchise and partner with InfectoPharm, a company with strong expertise in the acne market in the selected countries. We look forward to making Winlevi® available to an ever larger number of patients once EU regulatory approval has been granted. Dr. Markus Rudolph, Managing Director of InfectoPharm commented: *“We are very happy to partner with Cosmo and to enter a trustful and reliable partnership. Winlevi® with its new mode of action will be a perfect match to complete our acne portfolio.
